Leadership Island Style

Keynote Speaker: Glenn Furuya

Wednesday, October 10, 2007 at 6:00pm

Moiliili Community Center

Today, a CEO must also be a CTO - a Chief Transformation Officer, because a company that does not transform will not survive. For more than 20 years, Glenn Furuya has been helping Hawaii businesses achieve this transformation through leadership development and the improvement of management and work systems. His workshops are a unique blend of inspiration and information. Concepts are brought to life through the use of metaphors. Applications are practical, memorable and easy to implement.

Why "Island Style"? Glenn Furuya, strongly believes that the people of Hawaii are "hard wired" for leadership greatness. In this workshop, you will learn why.

Tongue Fu: How to Deflect, Disarm and Defuse Verbal Conflict

Keynote Speaker: Gwen Fujie

Tuesday, October 23, 2007 at 6:30pm

Moiliili Community Center

Tongue Fu!® is the constructive alternative to giving a tongue-lashing or to being tongue-tied. It is a step-by-step process for turning hostility into harmony and aggravation into aloha.

These martial arts ideas for the mind and mouth will help you:

- Persuade other people to stop, listen and see your point of view; Find solutions, not fault;
- Turn resentment into rapport with Words to Use;
- Control your emotions so they don't control you;
- Maintain perspective and not let difficult people ruin your day;
- Instantly end complaints and gracefully exit arguments;
- Communicate in a way that turns conflict into cooperation;
